Introductionxix

Section 1 The Essentials1

chapter 1 Maya Architecture3

The Anatomy of a Node	3
Shape Nodes	5
Attributes and Plugs	6
Connections	7
Data Flow	8
Working with Nodes and Connections	8
Non-Standard Attribute Connections	9
Anim Curves	11
Automating Complex Behavior	13
Utility Nodes	14
What Are Utility Nodes?	15
Why Use Utility Nodes?	15
Some Useful Node Networks	15
The Reverse Node	15
The Condition Node	16

chapter 2 IK Solvers and Their Application19

Building a Squash and Stretch Node	19
Building Stretch into an IK System	22
Turning It Off	25
Spline IK Squash and Stretch	26

chapter 3 Matrix Math.....29

Points and Vectors	29
Some Vector Operations	29
Matrices	31
Objects in Space	33
Pivots, Pivots	34
The Locator	34
dagPose	35

chapter 4 Interview with Mike Comet37

Section 2
Rigging45

chapter 5
Planned and Organized Rigging.....47

Evaluation of Geometry and Starting with a Clean Plate47
 Initial Evaluation—Unit Size and Scale49
 Default Poses and Neutral Posture51
 Da Vinci Pose51
 Multiple Poses52
 Rig Pose53
 Bad Geometry and Other Hidden Dangers54
 Preparing the Book Character for Rigging55

chapter 6
The Application of Research: Establishing Your Rig’s Foundation61

Artistic Research—Finding Anatomy References
 for Believable Characters61
 Using Reference Material for Cartoons and Creatures62

Breakdown of Reference for Joint Locations and Movement63
 The Foot and Ankle64
 Foot Joints versus Rig Joints64
 The Wrist and Elbow67
 The Head and Neck68
 The Waist and Lower Back71
 The Upper Back, Chest, and Shoulder72
 Hands and Fingers76

Dependencies in the Pipeline: Research
 Beyond Anatomy76
 The Animator: Friend or Foe?77
 Pipeline Planning and Questions77
 Applied Anatomy Using Animal and Human
 Anatomy as Reference for a Fantasy Creature:
 The pigGoblin78
 Template Joint Placement79
 Joint Placement80
 Template Joint Placement Continued—Extremities83

chapter 7
Stable, User-Friendly, Flexible Rigs87
 Rig Features87
 Speeding Up Your Rig88
 From Template to Rig89
 Hidden Names and Trax92

The Rig File—Low-Resolution Geometry	93	Spine Rig	133
The Rig File—Rig Design and Planning	95	Back Rig Requirements and Design	134
Pig Goblin Examined	95	Squash and Stretch Back	136
Rigging the Pig Leg	96	Final Back Controls and Outliner Cleanup	138
Zeroing the Controls	101	Arm World Local Switching	140
Pig Feet Rigs with Pivot Nodes	102	Attribute-Driven Visibility Switching	140
Expanded Reverse Foot	104	Rigging the Right Arm	141
Toes and Cleanup	110	Leg Fixes, Separating Out Rotation Inheritance from the Hips	143
Foot and Leg, Leg Twist, and Centralizing IK/FK Controls	113	Rig Wrap-up	144
FK Inherit Switch	113	Visual Feedback	144
Mirroring Controls, Rigging the Other Side of the Body	115	Outliner Cleanup	145
Shoulders, Arms, and Hands	117	Lock and Hide	145
Final Pass on the Arm and Hand, Adding in Options and Controls Over the Limb	119	Selection Sets and Character Sets	146
IK/FK	120	Auto Tool Select and Custom Pickwalking	147
Auto-Clavicle	121
Scapula Rig	122	chapter 8
Wrist and Fingers	125	Props and Interactive Accessories	149
Fingers—Pose-based Hand Controls for FK Hands	127	A Simple Prop Constraint Switch	149
Multi-Character and Reference-Friendly Script Node	130	A One-Handed Prop System	153
Head Rig	131	Easing the Transition	158
		Adding Some Polish	162
		Two-Handed Props	164

chapter 9

Focus on the Face.....169

Interview with Caleb Owens169

 The Interview170

PIG RIG—The Bacon and Eggs of Pig Facial

 Rigging174

 The Production174

 Time for a Facial177

 To Blend or Not to Blend178

 The Alternative Face Rig179

 Jumping Back to the Pig Production—Production
 Issues181

Section 3

Advanced Rigging.....183

chapter 10

Automation.....185

Principles of Automation185

 Converting MEL from the Script Editor to Executable Commands186

Working with Maya Names188

 The Hidden Voodoo of the Character Rigger190

 An Automated Rigging Tool190

 Adding Simple Error Correction192

Adding Some More Controls194

 Dealing With xforms195

 Making a Helper Command196

 Putting it All Together197

 Adding Complex Behaviors198

 Setting Up the Knee200

Making It Name Safe201

Batch Processing203

chapter 11

Tail Rigging for “Paul and his Bananas”.....207

Additional Characters and Rigging212

chapter 12

Interview with Rick May of TOONSTRUCK

ANIMATION215

chapter 13

The Pipeline.....219

File Structures219

Referencing224

Building a Multi-Resolution Pipeline227

Referencing Pitfalls230

Using Multiple Characters231

Exporting the Deformation Skeleton232
 Problem Solving the Reference236
 Implementing a Fixit Script236

Section 4 Skinning239

chapter 14 Form and Function241

Introduction to Deformers241
 Model Preparation242
 Deformer Relationships243
 Deformer Types244
 Skin Clusters244
 Blend Shapes244
 Lattices245
 Clusters245
 Bend, Flare, Sine, Squash, Twist, and Wave246
 Jiggle246
 Wire and Wrinkle246
 Sculpt246
 Wrap247
 Plan Ahead247
 Research and Development248
 Technical Considerations:248

chapter 15 Skin Cluster Deformer Applications249

Binding Options249
 Skin Cluster Weighting250
 Reverse Weighting251
 Fast Weighting—Add, Replace, Smooth:254
 Mirror, Smooth, and Prune254
 Weight Storage Solutions256

 cometScripts257
 Bind Pose257
 Adding Influences257
 Layered Geometry258
 Modular Thinking259

chapter 16 Blend Shape Deformer Applications261

Layered Deformations261
 Blend Shape Algorithm262
 Additive Nature262
 Pose-Based Deformation Fixes264
 Mirroring Blend Shapes267

Pipeline Methodology267
 Driven Deformations269
 Priorities and FACS270

Section 5
 Advanced Skinning.....273

chapter 17

CASE STUDY: BMW Angels Rig.....275

Defining Character Requirements275
 Rigging Philosophy275
 The Head Rig278
 The Body Rig280

chapter 18

Cluster Deformer Applications.....283

The Basics283
 Relative Mode284
 Envelope284
 Weighted Node285
 Deformation Order285
 Exclusive Partitions285
 Investigating the Obvious286

The Cluster Re-matrix287
 Blend Shape and Cluster Relationships290
 Blend Shapes Driving Clusters:290
 Clusters Driving Blend Shapes291
 Cluster Weighting292
 Cluster Mirroring293

chapter 19

Muscle Systems and Skin Solvers.....295

What Is a Muscle System?296
 Beginning with Bones298
 A Basic Muscle Volume299
 The Need for a Plug-in302
 Innerconnective Tissue303
 Tendons305
 Fat Distance307
 Skin Solvers308
 Faux Skin Solver Solutions309
